Biography

Dr. Matthew Wells practices family medicine at Goshen Physicians Family Medicine in Syracuse. He provides comprehensive care for patients of all ages, from newborns to senior citizens and everyone in-between. Dr. Wells brings an element of fun to his work as he empowers, educates and advocates for patients. Conditions he treats range from hypertension and diabetes to acute illnesses and injuries.

Family comes first for Dr. Wells in his personal life. The highlight of his day is sharing time with his wife and two sons. He also enjoys running, trying local eateries and cheering on college football teams.

Philosophy of Care

Listening is the most important factor in Dr. Wells' approach to care. He believes each time he is with a patient gives him an opportunity to learn and connect with them. By understanding each patient's concerns and values, he can better prepare a treatment plan to address their individual needs. Overall, he hopes to give each patient the tools needed to help them live their best life.
