About Me

Rachel Macias, MD, is a plastic surgeon affiliated with Goshen Center for Cancer Care and Goshen Hospital. She specializes in all aspects of plastic surgery concentrating on reconstructive and cosmetic procedures.

Dr. Macias has a special interest in complex surgical options. Surgeries she performs restore physical appearance for patients affected by a range of diseases, including cancer.

Family comes first for Dr. Macias when she is away from the office. She also enjoys reading, running long distances and traveling to new places.

Philosophy of Care

Dr. Macias believes the best way to help patients meet their reconstructive goals is to build strong patient-provider relationships. She combines a compassionate approach and a focus on natural results in order to customize each surgical plan to the patient's needs.
