Biography

Danae Bell is a family medicine nurse practitioner with Goshen Physicians OB/GYN. She provides preventive and acute care for women of all ages to help them maintain health and wellness. Danae encourages patients to actively participate in their health care and care for themselves as well as they do others.

Danae has extensive clinical experience in caring for women, newborns and families during labor and delivery at Goshen Hospital's Birthplace and as they transition to home. She also has comprehensive training in suture techniques and aspires to assist in surgical procedures.

The outdoors call Danae whenever she is away from the office. She enjoys tending to her garden and flower beds, as well as caring for a barn full of animals. Danae passes along her love of animals and community to her daughter through involvement with 4-H. She also appreciates time to bake, plan and cook healthy, flavorful meals for her family.

Philosophy of Care

Danae considers it a privilege to care for women and families through all the milestones of life. She takes a collaborative approach to health management and respects each patient's wants and needs.
