Biography

Dr. Chris Haimes is a board certified family medicine physician at the Goshen Physicians Family Medicine Pro Park. She is a dedicated member of not only the medical community, but also her home town. Born at Goshen General Hospital, she later attended Goshen High School and Adrian College. Dr. Haimes went on to receive her medical degree at Indiana University School of Medicine. From there, she did her residency at Memorial Hospital in South Bend.

Philosophy of Care

Dr. Haimes believes her patients deserve someone who is committed to providing the highest quality of care possible while respecting the patients' needs and concerns regarding their overall well-being. Dr. Haimes strives hard to care for every patient as she would her own family. She is committed to caring for the entire patient while helping them navigate the healthcare system.

According to Dr. Haimes, the advantage of a family practice physician is having a better understanding of the dynamics within a family which may impact an individual's health and well-being. In this way, Dr. Haimes is able to anticipate future health problems because she provides care for both the patient and his or her relatives. An important aspect of her practice is getting to know her patients and not just treating their conditions.
