About Me

Grace Darnell is a board-certified nurse practitioner at Goshen Center for Cancer Care. She provides care for women with complex issues related to cancer and other conditions of the reproductive system. In addition to gynecological exams and screenings, Grace assists with minimally invasive procedures, including laparoscopic surgeries and treatment for secondary malignancies. She has more than a decade of experience in oncology units and infusion centers and holds advanced certification in treating cancer through chemotherapy. Grace also provides acute care for oncology patients admitted to the hospital.

Philosophy of Care

Grace believes patients deserve a voice and autonomy to make their own healthcare decisions. She establishes strong relationships with her patients to deliver compassionate care that is centered around each patient's preferences and needs. As part of her holistic approach to care, Grace treats more than the patient's disease. She also respects a patient's physical and emotional needs, as well as quality of life.
