About Me

John Martens, MD, FACS, is a board certified surgeon who provides compassionate care to his patients while offering them the most advanced diagnostic options and surgical treatments available. Dr. Martens has received advanced training in general and vascular surgery, allowing him to perform a wide range of surgical procedures. He is also uniquely qualified to diagnose problems and recommend the most appropriate therapy for his patients, which may or may not include surgery. Instead, he may prescribe preventive steps to help patients maintain a healthy, active lifestyle without surgical intervention. If surgery is needed, Dr. Martens incorporates advanced techniques, such as endoscopy and laparoscopy, to ensure patients are less apprehensive about their outcomes.

Philosophy of Care

As a general surgeon, Dr. Martens is uniquely qualified to diagnose problems and recommend the most appropriate therapy for patients, which may or may not include surgery. He may prescribe preventive steps to help patients maintain a healthy, active lifestyle without surgical intervention.
